“Raptor Program at Norfolk Public Library”

Three raptors were the highlights of a summer reading program presentation held at the Norfolk Public Library Friday morning.

Kathy Fischer and Deborah Woracek, naturalists with the Fontanelle Forest Raptor Woodland Refuge, brought a snowy owl, a hawk and a peregrine falcon to show nearly 150 kids and adults what raptors look like up close.

The three birds were rescued and rehabilitated at the Refuge but had disabilities so were not able to be released in the wild.

Fischer is shown with the peregrine falcon in the photo.
